Superintendent's Highlights

New Plymouth has an exceptionally skilled and dedicated staff. Parents, educators, businessmen and other community leaders are working together to continually improve the education of our children.

Highlights for the year include: improvements in curriculum and instruction in reading, writing, and math; improvements in technology; much more parental involvement.

Our staff wrote K-12 integrated Math, Language Arts and Vocational Curriculum and exit assessments. These will be implemented in 1998-99, and data will then be available to further improve curriculum and instruction.

Progress Towards Meeting District Goals

1997-98 Goals

Progress

Write K-12 integrated curriculum and exit assessments for all subjects. Data from exit assessments will be used to determine if modifications need to be made in either curriculum or instruction.

K-12 integrated curriculum and exit assessments were written for Math, Language Arts and Vocational Courses. Social Studies exit assessment data was studied, and some modifications were made.

Continue improving reading program K-12.

Accelerated Reading has been implemented throughout the first eight grades. Many volunteers are involved in listening to students read, working with AR, etc.

Increase Math scores on ITBS/TAP, as well as on the Direct Math test.

Average ITBS/TAP %tile for N.P. students in math was 46.3, up from 44.8 the year before. New teaching techniques including Math Concept Board have been implemented.

Increase the number of volunteers in our schools.

Volunteer coordinator has been responsible for significantly increasing the number of volunteers at all grade levels.

Make sure all students are in a learning environment which is best for them.

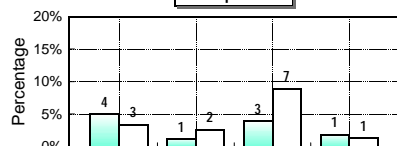

Our Middle School implemented a school-within-a-school for students who were struggling. We increased the number of vocational courses available for high school students.
